VACANCY

School of Public Health and Health Technology Joint Colleges of Medicine, Oral Health and Veterinary Sciences

The University of Technology, Jamaica (UTech, Jamaica) seeks to identify a suitable candidate to fill the following post:

FULL TIME LECTURER - OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH, SAFETY AND ENVIRONMENTAL MANAGEMENT

ACADEMIC REQUIREMENTS:

The successful candidate should ideally possess:

- a PhD in Occupational Health, Safety & Environmental Management
- or at least a Masters Degree in Occupational Health, Safety & Environmental Management or a related field

ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS:

The candidate must have a minimum of five to ten (5-10) years' experience working in the field of Occupational Health Safety & Environmental Management. Preference will be given to individuals with knowledge and skills in occupational toxicology and occupational injuries and diseases. Professional certification in Occupational Health, Safety & Environmental Management such as Certified Industrial Hygienist (CIH) or Certified Safety Professional (CSP) would be an advantage.

The candidate will also need to demonstrate a clear commitment to teaching as well as research, and show evidence of successful educational/training practice. He/She will offer teaching through a variety of means including lectures, practicals, small group tutorials, problem-based learning, and 'e-learning' initiatives, and will be expected to innovate in each of these areas.

The candidate should:

- be engaged in relevant research and community service
- be a member of a professional organization and have an interest in developing services to industry and the public at large

Our compensation package includes a contributory pension scheme, health coverage and a group life insurance scheme.
